

OXFORD HOTEL.

Mr. James Keasey notifies the public that he has taken over the Oxford Hotel, opposite the Railway Goods Shed, and has had same thoroughly renovated. The hotel is a two storey one and offers first class residential accommodation. The best of wines, beers, and spirits only will be stocked and the new proprietor hopes to meet all his old friends and make new ones. The stabling accommodation for travellers' stock is A1.