Jim Fleming is a retired Customs Manager and lives on Sydney's lower north shore. He began researching his family history in 1983 and has been a member of the Society of Australian Genealogists since then. Aside from genealogy he was enjoying travelling and singing baritone in two choirs - before COVID19 interrupted those activities.

Publican Licenses at Bourke

- It was, indeed, first licensed in 1866 (as indicated by the caption) – see evidence on next page
- It was, indeed, the first hotel to be licensed in the Bourke District, a year before the Bourke Hotel (Joshua Free), the Royal Hotel (George Harris) and the Old Fort Hotel (JE Kelly).
- It's name was the Lame Horse, and the sign clearly pictures a horse, presumably a lame horse.

One of the women would almost certainly be Prudence Whye, nee Reed. The other could be a sister, but is probably her mother, Frances Reed nee Heazle.

HOB V2 p102 - The "Town & Country Journal" of 28/10/1871 says:

"There are three hotels, Tattersall's by Henry Colless, in the centre of the main street (on the present site of the Oxley Club – W.J.C.), is a handsome brick building with a verandah, supported by fluted Tuscan pillars; and for excellence of design exteriorly, and for comfort and convenience in the interior, is excelled by very few houses of the kind outside Sydney. The Commercial, by Mr. Joseph Maxwell, (brother-in-law of the owner, Mr. W. W. Davis) is also an excellent wood and brick building; and doubtless, under the energetic management of its owner, who has but recently purchased it, this hotel will obtain a large share of public support. The Royal, by Mr. George Harris, is the first house on entering Bourke from the Sydney road (it was on the site of the present Royal W.J.C.); there is a large brick-built assemble room attached, admirable adopted for dancing, music and theatricals.

NB – Joseph Maxwell (husband of Jane Reed) never held the license for the Commercial. It was first licensed the following year to W Davis ((his brother-in-law). – JMF

HOB v2 p103 - 1872 - "Commercial" (by Mr. W.W. Davis), "very commodious and liberally patronized"; and the "Royal", by G. Harris, "Also a good hotel".

On the 18th ultimo, a human skull and other bones were found by Henry Nancarrow, in a secluded spot near Mount Oxley, Bourke District. The bones are believed to be those of a white man, who, most probably, was lost in the bush and perished for want of water. Deceased's death is supposed to have taken place more than five years ago. A magisterial inquiry was held on the remains by A. O. Grant, Esq., P.M., Bourke.
