From the "Sydney Mail" November 11, 1871. p.1168

The Week: - The Bourke correspondent of the Western Examiner, on the 28th ultimo writes: - A few days ago Mrs James Reed, of Mount Oxley, twenty miles from Bourke, showed me some butter made on the Yankee system. Three pints of cream was placed in a cloth and buried in the garden about two feet, but before the three days allowed, curiosity compelled them to see what it was like. I am using some of it now, and it is superior to the churned butter, being firmer and sweeter. I would advise all parties living in warm climates to adopt this plan.
